KAREN HINDS

CEO | COACH | SPEAKER | AUTHOR

Karen shares wisdom from her more than 25 years as a CEO, trusted advisor to C-suite leaders, and the personal journey that took her from a young Caribbean high school student seeking opportunity in the U.S. to emerge transformed as a leading leadership, DEI, and culture transformation advisor to global companies while learning to value her voice and wellbeing.

Her company, Workplace Success Group, is a global strategic training and consulting firm founded when Karen used her experience in building talent pipelines for financial services companies to jump-start the organization.

TESTIMONIALS

“ I got my mojo back and it feels great. I raised my hand and I am leading a project that impacts multiple groups.

TAMMY, A 13-YEAR VETERAN OF CORPORATE AMERICA

“ This presentation was excellent, the best I have attended since I've been in HR.

DONNA DEMATTIA, HR MANAGER, THE WORKPLACE

“ A well-informed, engaging, and dynamic professional who never disappoints!

STAFFING MANAGEMENT ASSOCIATION

“ Karen's to-the-point messaging welcomed each of our vulnerabilities that led to frank team discussions and individual “ah-ha” moments.

JENN M. EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF TREASURY

“ The message is delivered with punch, humor, and intelligence. She is one of the best speakers I have heard, and would recommend her without reservation.

DR. SUSAN CARROLL, WORDS AND NUMBERS RESEARCH

“ Karen led the finance team through a thoughtful process of understanding better everyone's tendency toward “unconscious bias” and how through self-reflection, openness to learning, and communication we can work to reduce the negative effects unconscious bias has on recruiting, retaining top talent, and creating a highly engaged workforce.

JOHN CANTILLON, VICE PRESIDENT OF CONTROLLER PRATT & WHITNEY

“ You are now part of our company's toolbox of learning!

D. PARMA WICT

Private One-to-One Coaching (Virtual)

Even though you are a high performer, you know you are meant for more but you just can't seem to figure out how to move obstacles out of your way. You know that it is impossible to separate your personal life from your professional life and truly be your authentic self. You know there are levels of thought, creativity, productivity, and genius that lie dormant in you. Had enough? Are you ready to provoke the genius in you? Karen has worked with hundreds of individuals who want to maximize their personal and professional potential. Does this sound like you?

For over 20 years, Karen has focused on building her business with a team of consultants and trainers, meeting the needs of her clients while spending time with her immediate family and throwing herself into charity and church work. Although she was an accomplished businesswoman, it took the help of a mentor to guide her to a space where her personal development and sense of self-regard came into alignment with the high-powered professional version of her identity. Her journey and transformation were profound, and Karen soon started noticing the disconnect between work and personal life that was keeping other highly accomplished leaders from truly living in a place of power, personal peace, and deep gratitude. In addition to running her WSG consulting business, Karen has made it her life's work to help driven high-performing leaders claim their journey and voice by bringing their personal and professional worlds into alignment.
